- A sponge for learning from others, open to feedback
- Always respectful & patient
- Known for her "poker face"
- A good teacher & story teller
- A practitioner - really knows the tools & the work

Important to Jennifer

- As a trainer / mentor trainer:
 - To demonstrate importance of (and how to) "listen"
 - To always learn from others & help others to learn
 - To create a learning environment that is meaningful, positive, fun & thought provoking
 - To always enhance my skills as a trainer and mentor
 - To use PCT as a habit in my day to day work & personal life, to practice what I preach - to reflect this in training & when coaching/mentoring others
 - To commit to co-training w/a person who receives services/supports, to assure their stories are heard
- As a mentor trainer:
 - To share my knowledge & experiences - personally & professionally
 - To motivate others
 - To be effective in my approach; to demonstrate various ways to utilize PCT for organizational /systems change to "better" people's lives & to find ways of providing supports to move from a service life to community life
 - To always value feedback from others & learn from it
 - To provide guidance & constructive feedback - to just be there when needed

How to support Jennifer

- Feedback is very important to me: Please tell me what is working / not working in my teaching/mentoring style or in any project I am involved.
- Help me to understand your learning style so that I can help you to learn in a way that is meaningful to you .
- I need my supporters to provide opportunities for me to receive on-going learning, skill building & networking.
- Please be "straight up" with me - tell me when I am doing a good job & I need to know how/what I need to do better - examples help !!
